Buyer Personas

Persona 1 — The Overwhelmed Beginner

- Profile: 18–26; student or early-career; mobile-first content consumption.
- Needs: a simple explanation of where to start.
- Pain points: conflicting advice, too many steps, fear of buying the wrong products.
- Motivators: short guides, checklists, clear language, manageable habits.
- Channels: Instagram, YouTube/short video, Google Search.
- Message: “Start with small, simple steps. You don't need a complicated routine to begin.”
- Likely objection: “I don't know which advice to trust.”
- Response: be transparent, avoid medical claims, link to reliable sources when discussing skin health.

Persona 2 — The Busy Routine Builder

- Profile: 25–35; busy work/study schedule; values convenience.
- Needs: a routine that fits limited time.
- Pain points: inconsistency, long routines, forgetfulness.
- Motivators: reminders, printable checklists, simple weekly planning.
- Channels: Instagram, Facebook, email.
- Message: “Make room for a few small habits, one day at a time.”
- Likely objection: “I won't keep up with it.”
- Response: frame the guide as flexible and encourage adaptation rather than perfection.

Persona 3 — The Research-Led Self-Care Shopper

- Profile: 22–40; compares information before trusting a brand.
- Needs: clear, non-exaggerated explanations and transparent policies.
- Pain points: vague promises, aggressive sales, unclear data use.
- Motivators: FAQs, ingredient education, consistent messaging, privacy transparency.
- Channels: Google Search, brand website, email.
- Message: “Clear information and a practical starting point, without the hype.”
- Likely objection: “Is this useful or just another marketing email?”
- Response: deliver the promised checklist, set expectations, and make unsubscribing easy.
